Acknowledgement

I wish to place on record my deep sense of gratitude to my research supervisor, Dr K V Nagaraj, Prof and Head, Department of Journalism and Mass Communication who readily accepted to guide me. It has been a rewarding experience to work under him for my doctoral programme.

I have been very fortunate to have few very sincere colleagues who still show the commitment and verve to the subject of study. Dr N Muthiah has been a well wisher, a very valuable friend and an uncompromising research methodologist with whom I had the good fortune of discussing my research problem at length who also critically revised my earlier draft.

One of our department star students, a sincere communication scholar, a gentleman colleague, Mr P E Thomas has been a great source of strength in the revision of my earlier drafts and helped in the final stages of thesis preparation.

Dr Gopalan Rajendran, my colleague’s brother used his contacts to make my work much easier by providing me with the list of the Internet subscribers’ names in no time. I owe him a lot for the data collection I did at Chennai.

My colleagues in Manonmaniam Sundaranar had been more than kind to me. Though only acquainted recently, they took personal care and were a source of inspiration to complete my work in time. My colleague Dr A R Venkatachalapathy of the History Faculty has been providing the impetus to complete the thesis. My friend in the Faculty of Statistics Dr Loganathan helped me clarify the issues that I raised about the analysis part of the thesis very patiently. He reviewed my analysis and made important suggestions that I have thankfully carried out in the final draft. I am indebted to a couple of my professional colleagues who were behind me in the completion of the thesis.

Dr Kannan of the Sociology Faculty painstakingly reviewed my earlier drafts and suggested modifications. Dr T R Rajasekaran of the Physics Faculty periodically monitored my progress in the final stages of thesis preparation and offered his help throughout.

I reserved the final part of this rather long write up to my three friends. Dr C Pichandy, Head, Dept. of Communication, PSG College of Arts and Science; Dr G Ravindran, Reader and Head and Mr S Arulselvan, Lecturer, Dept. of Communication, Manonmaniam Sundaranar University for their moral support not only for the present work, but also for the excellent professional atmosphere that we were able to create together, to make life more meaningful and enjoyable. My wife Latha who stood by me patiently when I had to work for long hours for many days to complete the thesis and my kids Abi and Sindhu who were not complaining when I stole their time for my work.

I proudly dedicate this research work to my parents who gave everything to make me reach the pinnacle.

Vaidyanathan Natarajan