2.5 Evolution of Manufacturing Sector in Post-Independence Punjab (India) ........................................... 34

2.5.1 Event of Partition and the Shattering of Punjab's Industrial Economy ........................................... 34

2.5.2 Rebuilding From the Wrecks of Partition and the Industrial Growth Dynamism During Pre-Green Revolution Period .... 36

2.5.3 Industrial Evolution During Post-Green Revolution Period 39

2.5.4 Current State of Manufacturing in Punjab ................. 41
  A. Significant Place of Small Scale Manufacturing ............... 42
  B. Existence in the Form of Clusters .......................... 43
  C. Preponderance of Unorganised Segment ....................... 44

2.6 Prime Role of State & Entrepreneurship in Shaping Growth Dynamism of Punjab's Manufacturing Sector .............................. 45

2.6.1 Stimulating Role of the State ................................. 45

2.6.2 Entrepreneurial Capability and Artisanship .................... 47

2.7 Industrial Labour Market Structure and Its Operational Dynamism 48

2.7.1 Three-tier Structure of Industrial Labour Market ........... 49

2.7.2 Operational Dynamics of Industrial Labour Market .......... 50

2.8 Summing-Up ................................................ 51

3 Post-1990 Growth Dynamism of Punjab's Unorganised Manufacturing Sector: A Labourist Perspective 52

3.1 Introduction ................................................. 52

3.2 Relevance of a Labourist Perspective .......................... 53

3.3 Secondary Data Sources ........................................ 55
  3.3.1 NSSO's Rounds on Unorganised Manufacturing ............... 55
  3.3.2 Supplementary Data Sources ............................... 56

3.4 Size Structure of Unorganised Manufacturing Sector .......... 57

3.5 Post-1990 Growth Dynamism: Contrasting OAMEs With Establishments ............................................. 59
  3.5.1 Growth Pattern of Real Gross Value Added ................. 62

3.5.2 The Labour Aspect ....................................... 64
  A. Nature of Employment ....................................... 65
  B. Growth of Employment ....................................... 65
  C. Hired Labour Usage vis-à-vis Real Gross Value Added ....... 66
  D. Wage Earnings of Hired Labour: Level, Growth and Elasticity 67

3.6 Some More Facets of Unorganised Manufacturing in Punjab .... 71
  3.6.1 A Brief Description of Surveyed Industries ................ 71
4.3.2 Trajectory Type - II .......................... 95
4.3.3 Trajectory Type - III .......................... 96
4.3.4 Trajectory Type - IV .......................... 96
4.4 Emerging Insights and Further Researchable Issues .......... 97
4.5 The Socio-economic Profile of the Sample Wageworkers .... 97
4.6 Work-Intensity Pattern Among Wageworkers .................. 103
4.7 Reward Differential, Wage Differentiation and Discrimination ... 106
  4.7.1 Earnings vis-à-vis Minimum Wage: An Estimation of Reward Differential .... 106
  4.7.2 Wage Pattern among Wageworkers .................... 108
  4.7.3 Incidence of Migration cum Social Class based Discrimination in Wage Pattern .... 112
4.8 Exposure to Work-related Vulnerability ..................... 119
  4.8.1 Methodological Issues .......................... 119
     A. Conceptualisation of Work-related Vulnerability Across Various Domains ..... 119
     B. Subjective Mode of Inquiry ......................... 124
  4.8.2 Incidence of Work-related Vulnerability: Migration cum Social Class Analysis .... 125
     A. Relevance of Migration cum Social Class Analysis ........ 125
     B. Exposure to Work-related Insecurity as per Social Class and Migration Status .... 125
4.9 Summary and Conclusions ................................ 137

5 Addressing Self-Employed Workers' Plight in Punjab's Urban Unorganised Manufacturing Sector 139
  5.1 Introduction ..................................... 139
  5.2 Case Studies Revealing Plight of Self-employed Workers .... 140
     5.2.1 Home-based Workers .......................... 140
     5.2.2 Non Home-based Workers ....................... 142
  5.3 Socio-economic Profile of the Sample Self-employed Workers ...... 143
  5.4 Self-Employed Workers' Exposure to Vulnerability ........... 148
     5.4.1 Conceptualising the Domains of Vulnerability .......... 148
         A. Occupational Uncertainty ....................... 148
         B. Operational Vulnerability ..................... 149
         C. Functional Insecurity ......................... 149
         D. Economic Insecurity ......................... 150
     5.4.2 Variation in Exposure to Vulnerability as per Work Status .... 151
5.4.3 Mutually Reinforcing Nature of Experienced Vulnerabilities

5.5 Struggle-based Survivals of the Home-based Workers
5.5.1 Forces Shaping the Adoption of Home-based Work
5.5.2 Implicit Dependence and Exploitation in Work Relations
5.5.3 Work Availability and the Onslaught of Market Fluctuations
5.5.4 Work Pressures, Self-exploitation and Experienced Health Outcomes
5.5.5 Household Division of Labour and the Child Well-being

5.6 Summary and Conclusions

6 Stress Exposure, Resilience and Experienced Outcomes
A Comparative Analysis of Worker Households

6.1 Introduction
6.2 Nature of Stress in Worker Households
6.3 Asset Profile of Worker Households
6.3.1 Nature of Assets Owned by Worker Households
6.3.2 Assessing Deprivation in Worker Households
   A. Human Capital Deprivation
   B. Physical Capital Deprivation
   C. Social Capital Deprivation
6.3.3 Further Evidence on Worker Households' Weak Resilience
   A. Basic Needs Deprivation
   B. Living Environment Deprivation
6.4 Nature and Impact of Coping Strategies
6.4.1 Nature of Coping Strategies
   A. Borrowing
   B. Increasing Labour Force Participation
   C. Restricting Household Expenditure
6.4.2 Impact of Coping Strategies
6.5 Further Assessment of Experienced Outcomes through the Notion of Freedom to Decent Life
6.5.1 Senian Notion of Freedom
6.5.2 Freedom to Decent Life: A Variant of the Senian Notion
6.5.3 Mapping Freedom to Decent Life: An Index Approach
6.5.4 Evidence on Endangered Freedom to Decent Life
   A. Endangered Freedom to Decent Life vis-à-vis Household Economic Insecurity
C. Survey Approach ..................................... vi
D. Focus of Inquiry ........................................ xiii
E. Characteristic Features of Fieldwork Sites .............. xiv

A.2 Appendix: Chapter 2 ..................................... xvi
A.3 Appendix: Chapter 3 ..................................... xvi
A.4 Appendix: Chapter 4 ..................................... xvii
A.5 Appendix: Chapter 6 ..................................... xx
A.6 Appendix: Chapter 7 ..................................... xxi

B Questionnaires ........................................ i

B.1 Schedule I: Establishment Particulars ..................... ii
B.2 Schedule II: Wageworker's Particulars .................... v
B.3 Schedule III: Self-Employed Worker's Particulars ....... ix
B.4 Schedule IV: Household Information of Wageworkers and Self-Employed Workers ................... xiv