ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I have chosen to take this opportunity to express my gratitude to several eminent people who have impacted my thesis tremendously. Without their wisdom, assistance, and contribution on my intellectual journey, I could not have completed this work.

In the course of this research, I would particularly like to thank Dr Vishal Mishra for his rigorous guidance as my advisor/mentor/friend. His patience, insightful direction, and constant support during the last many years have upgraded my research. Many thanks to you sir, for patiently reviewing multiple drafts of this thesis. Sir, you have helped keep me my sanity among all the madness. I would like to acknowledge Dr. Shamanna. His wisdom for the health and public policy discipline is amazing. Sir, you have taught me how to be humble and a good listener in spite of attaining great heights of success yourself.

This work would not have been possible without the valuable guidance, support, and encouragement of my Visiting Scholar Programme mentor Dr. Goutam Chakraborty of Spears School of Business, Oklahoma State University. Thank you Dr. C, for your patience in teaching me the intricate nuances of scientific research and introducing me to the world of SAS software. I am indebted to you for the guidance I received beyond the dissertation work. Your interest in my other academic and professional endeavors is highly appreciated. You actually helped me realize how useful it is to be self reliant in the world of research.

I would like to thank my research mentors from my early years of registering for the PhD program: Dr. Atanu Adhikari and Prof. Shailendra Singh Bisht. Their priceless advice and proactive research motivation in their respective fields of research methodology and public policy were essential to the completion of this research.
My special thanks go for my family, especially my mother and father. They are my constant source of joy and wisdom. They are always a treasure to behold and be with; my career as a doctoral student was made successful because of their devoted sacrifice and unswerving support during these past years.

Finally, the dear friends, I had the joy to know and work alongside while a doctoral student, Yogesh, Subhash, Rajdeep, Manpreet and many others. I hold the utmost for you as colleagues; your professionalism and demeanor is unbeatable.

A special word of acknowledgment and sincere thanks for the organizations: Measure Demographic & Health Survey (DHS), USA, and International Institute for Population Sciences (IIPS), Mumbai, for permitting me to use National Family Health Survey – 3 (NFHS-3) data for my research.

Dipanjan Kumar Dey