Future Directions

Chapter-8
The following research is needed to establish the traditional practices.

- Clinical evaluation of active fraction.
- Validation of the secondary ethnomedicinal practices documented herein.
- Growth optimization of fruiting body.
- Further fractionation and identification of leads.
- Fermentation optimization of production of active botanicals.
- Production of edible and medicinal varieties for income generation of local peoples.
- Ecological conservation.