How difficult sometimes it becomes, when it comes to obliging people and especially those who where behind you, cheering up in the rainy days of life. Yes, I owe my success simply to these great human beings, who left no stone unturned to let me see the light at the other end of the tunnel. It will be lunatic if I categorise them on a priority basis. They really all deserve a mention of praise here, but certainly putting them all here becomes rather difficult. But one thing is sure that they definitely played an instrumental role in putting the ball in my court.

The remarkable experience with my supervisor, Dr. S. M. Imamul Haque, was very fructuous. His enduring commitment, invaluable suggestions, perpetual encouragement and timely criticism genuinely paid me the dividend. I offer my heartfelt gratitude to this ingenious man of exceptional qualities.

I am privileged to express my sincere thanks to Dr. Shamim Siddiqui (Burhani College Mumbai) for making me to work myself up into a lather in the process of completing my work. His unfrosty nature and sagacious guidelines saved me from going down like a lead balloon.

I extend my gratitude to Prof. Mushtaq Ahmad, Chairman and Dean, Department of Commerce and Senior Teachers of my department. My special thanks go to Mr. N.P. Pandya, (Asst. General Manager, BSE Training Institute). Ms. Amarjot Purewal (Asstt. Manager NABARD Mumbai).
I would do injustice if I forget my friends, who continuously helped me in reaching my target so comfortably. Syed Mukhtar, Rohit Gupta, Dr. Nizamuddin, Ashutosh, Shahr-e-yaar, Dr. Perways Alam, Janveer, Dr. Ziaul Islam, Mohd. Muslim, Dr. Shoaib, Abdullah. All provided me the necessary motivation, encouragement and horsepower to make me compete in this era of stiff competition. They converted my weaknesses into strengths and thereby grooming my personality.

I will be justified to include my brothers and sisters in this list. They stood before me and pumped in me the fresh blood of strong determination and desire to excel. It is a truth universally acknowledge that no one love like your parents. Really without their untiring support, motivation and enduring pain to see me happy my all efforts would have beaten the bush. I dedicate my success to them. It is just because of their unsselfish sacrifice and faith in me that proved so fruitful that ultimately this feather was attached in my cap.

A very special word of thanks to Mr. Jo Johnson and Mr. Mohd. Haroon for editing and brushing up every single page of this thesis. Last, but not the least I thanks all my other teachers, friends and relatives who helped me at some point or other realizing my this dream.
