Acknowledgements

Gratitude is a noble response for help, rendered by another and its acknowledgement is a source of satisfaction. I would like to record my deep sense of gratitude to a considerable number of persons and institutions who have been generous enough to help me. With their value added advice, information materials and guidance. My first obligation is to the University of Burdwan an institution of higher learning, for providing me the opportunity and support for completion of this study.

I express my deep sense of gratitude to my esteemed supervisor Prof. (Dr.) Shiv Sahai Singh, Professor of Law & former Head, Department of Law, University of Burdwan, for his most readily invaluable, intellectual guidance, ideas and suggestions in completing this work. He has always been inexhaustible source of inspiration to me. I am personally indebted to my esteemed supervisor for giving much of his valuable time in going through very carefully every page of this work and also for his scholarly advice, suggestion and corrections. In spite of pre-occupation and dearth of time, my supervisor gave me sufficient time and solution to a numbers of problems. I must also express my sense of gratitude to Prof. (Dr.) Manik Chakraborty, Professor of Law, Head, Department of Law, University of Burdwan, Prof. (Dr.) Sarit Kumar Sadhu, Professor of Law, Department of Law, University of Burdwan, and Prof. Md. Momin Professor of Law, Department of Law, University of Burdwan, Dr. Dipak Das, Reader in Law, Sanjeev Kumar Tewari, Reader in Law and Dr. J.K. Saha, lecturer, for their value added suggestion and constant encouragement through out the period of study. At the same time, I cannot forget my respected sir, Prof. (Dr.) Bishnu Prasad Dwivedi, Professor of Law, Department of Law, University of North Bengal, from whom I learnt a little bit idea of equality rights and gender jurisprudence. I must also express my gratitude to Dr. Rathin Bandopadhyay, Reader & Head, Department of Law, University of North Bengal for his suggestions and constant encouragement he gave me throughout the period when the work on the thesis was going on.

I also owe my special grateful to my respected teacher, Lissy V. M. Mathew, for polishing the felicity of the thesis.

Special thanks to Mr. Santosh Kumar Pathak, Judicial Magistrate 5th Court, Alipore, Kolkata, for his concern at every stage and helping me in myriad ways in completion of this work.

I also owe my indebtedness to my respected parents, my father Mr. Prabhu Nath Singh, and my mother Mrs. Kaushalya Singh who are always there to help me, guide me and have been an unfailing reservoir of inspiration and encouragement.

I am highly indebted to Mrs. Ila Ghosh, who provided me motherly care and motivated me to complete the work in time.

I am indeed thankful to my brother Mr. Santosh Kumar Singh, Sister Mrs. Babita Singh, brother-in-law, Mr. Manoj Kumar Singh, Police Officer, Police Head Quarters, Allahabad, Uttar Pradesh and their sons, Sourav Kumar Singh and Gourav Kumar Singh for their co-operation and continuous motivation in completion of this thesis.

I also acknowledge my thanks to Miss Sangeeta Mandal, Lecturer, Department of Law, University of North Bengal for her motivation and support.

I am indeed very thankful to Piu who was constant source and immeasurable source of inspiration to me for her help and co-operation. This research could not have completed without her loving care and encouragement.

I wish to record my appreciation for the help I have received from my friends and colleagues namely Kaushik Ghosh & Dr. Rajendra Dhar Dubey, Lecturers, Department of Law, University of North Bengal, Mr. Bhupendra Kumar Verma, Lecturer, Bimal Chandra College of Law, Kandi, Murshidabad, West Bengal, Mrs. Sushma Pradhan, Lecturer, Department of Law, University of North Bengal, Miss Sharmila Bose, Documentation-cum-Assistant Librarian, Centre for Women's Studies, University of North Bengal, and Mr. Dipak Goria, Additional Panchayat Sahayak, Department of Panchayat & Rural Development, Government of West Bengal.

I wish to record my appreciation for the help I have received from my friends and colleagues namely Dr. Ranjit Sil, Assistant Professor, Sikkim University, Mr. Kohinoor Roy, Advocate, Calcutta High Court, Calcutta, Mr. Bakhtiar Ali Shah, Advocate, Calcutta High Court, Calcutta.

Special Thanks to Mr. Uday Pratap Singh, Lecturer, C.B. Singh Law College, Songaon, Akbarpur, Ambedkarnagar for inspiring me to complete the work in time. I also express my sincere thanks to all faculty members of law department, University of Burdwan for their kind helps.

I am also very much grateful to Mr. Amal Dhar, Library, Department of Law, University of North Bengal, teaching and non-teaching staff of my department namely Department of Law, University of North Bengal, for helping me in various ways during this study. I also thank known and unknown persons who had helped me during course of the study.

Department of law
University of North Bengal
P.O: NBU Raja Rammohumrup
Dist: Darjeeling-734013
West Bengal, India

Sanjay Kumar Singh
Sanjay Kumar Singh