The author expresses his deepest sense of gratitude and debt to Dr Shiv Sahai Singh, Reader and Head in the Department of Law, University of Burdwan, Burdwan (West Bengal), who has supervised the project and saw it through. Dr Singh has seen literally every letter of this work and suggested a number of amendments in the original draft. He has been much more than a guide and has spared his whole leisure without denying access to the author even at odd hours. The researcher conceived the idea to undertake this study under the able supervision and guidance of Dr Singh who gave enough encouragement and impetus for the completion of this work.

To his senior teacher in the University, Professor Amit Kumar Mallick, Dean, Faculty of Law, University of Burdwan, the author is grateful as he has always cheered him up during the moods of his despondency. He has been instrumental in completing this study and without his encouragement probably it would have not been completed.

The author expresses his deep sense of gratitude and respect to his father Mr. Gouri Prasad Chatterjee and mother
Late Mrs Archana Chatterjee for their constant inspiration and encouragement for the completion of academic works.

The author is very much thankful to the personnels of Eastern Coal Fields Limited, D.S.P., Raniganj Paper Mills, D.T.P.S., Reckitt and Colman and IISCO, for their valuable help in conducting the field survey.

Brother Partha Chatterjee and his wife Sumana Chatterjee deserve special thanks of the author as they always encouraged for the completion of this study. The author likes to place on record his deep sense of love to his brother's only son Master Debajyoti Chatterjee who happens to be the permanent source of inspiration for the progress of this study.

The author expresses his deep sense of gratefulness and devotion to his Guruji's wife Mrs Chandrawati Singh and thanks to his sons Sri Vijay Pratap Singh, Uday Pratap Singh and Cheerendra Pratap Singh, who always cheered him from the beginning till the completion of this study.

The author records his deep sense of appreciation and gratefulness to Dr Nageshwar Prasad, Reader in Geography Department, Burdwan University for his valuable help in finalising the field survey and processing the research work.
The author expresses his gratefulness to his mother-in-law Late Mrs Aloka Banerjee and to his sister-in-law Mrs Krishna Chatterjee who inspired for the completion of the work. The author is thankful to his friend Bhaskar Mukherjee who always helped him for the completion of this study. To his colleague Mr Sarit Kumar Sadhu, Lecturer, Department of Law, University of Burdwan, Burdwan, the author is grateful for his encouragement in completing the study.

The author will fail in his duty in case, he does not express his thankfulness to his only son Master Indranil Chatterjee who made it possible to complete this study by creating academic and congenial atmosphere at home. His son missed him even on genuine demands. The author is particularly grateful to his wife Mrs Kana Chatterjee who looked after the material side of the family. Without her active and consistent help probably this study would not have been possible.

It is his pleasant duty and privilege to thank the Librarians of the various Libraries, particularly the Indian Law Institute, New Delhi, National Library, Calcutta and Department of Law, University of Burdwan, Burdwan for their valuable help.
In completing this research work many known and unknown persons have guided, helped and assisted the author and their suggestions have benefitted him in a number of ways. The author is grateful to all of them.

Mr Prabir Sengupta prepared the type-script of this study in record time very neatly and meticulously with utmost sincerity. The author will remain grateful to him for such positive co-operation.
