Acknowledgement

This thesis is the outcome of my research work under the sagacious guidance of Dr. C. Gopinathan Pillai, Pro-Vice Chancellor, University of Calicut. My profound gratitude to him for the unfailing inspiration, support and suggestions rendered throughout the course of the research cannot be expressed in any lexical gesture.

I owe my gratitude to Shashi Tharoor who kindly responded to my e-mail queries.

The librarians of C.I.E.F.L Hyderabad, ASRC Hyderabad, SCILET Madurai, The British Library, Thiruvananthapuram, Mahatma Gandhi University Library, Kottayam and N.S.S College Library, Pandalam have helped me track down the research materials. I take this opportunity to thank them all.

I owe my gratitude to the Principal and staff of Marthoma College, Thiruvalla for the timely help rendered.

I am greatly indebted to Dr. K. Unnikrishnan and Dr. V. Krishna Kumar for their valuable suggestions. I also thank Shri. Jay Nayar for the care and patience he showed in reading through the manuscript.

My sincere gratitude is also due to all my friends and colleagues for their support and motivation.
This research would not have progressed and materialized without the unflinching support and help of my husband Ajith and also without the constant prayers and encouragement of my mother Prof. N. Jayasree. Finally I dedicate this thesis to the loving memory of my father late Shri. Perumpulickal N. Gopinathan Nair. I also bow my head in gratitude to God Almighty for carrying me through these years.

Anjana. J