ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

It gives me a great pleasure to extend my gratitude to all the co-authors on the manuscript from which this dissertation was adapted. Current work was also guided and deeply enriched by input from my thesis committee (Dr. Ritushree Kukreti, Dr. Yogendra Singh, Dr. Anurag Agrawal). I would like to express my very special thanks to my Ph.D. mentor, Dr. Ritushree for her firm support in my scientific training, encouragement, cooperation and career development. Her constant motivation, enthusiasm, and support have provided an unexceptional training climate throughout journey. I cannot be thankful enough for the opportunities Dr. Ritushree had given me to gain outside insight and share my work my other colleagues both in institute and abroad.

I also thank the members of Dr. Ritushree's lab, especially Harpreet Kaur, who constantly support me in understanding the concepts. And have provided insight to nearly every scientific problem I’ve dealt with. I also extend special thanks to Ruchi Baghel and Dr. Meenal Gupta for their unconditional support and present members Gurpreet, Neha, Ankit, Juhi, Shama, Puneet for their help as well as their constant doubts; it is an important part of scientific discussions that many of us may not value. I wish all of them a happy and bright future. I am thankful to them for maintaining a joyous and scientific environment.

I am grateful to Dr. Rajesh Gokhale, Director, IGIB, for providing me the necessary environment for research and scientific interaction. I would also like to acknowledge our key collaborators Dr. Sanjeev Jain, National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences, Bengaluru, India and Dr. Rakesh K. Chadda and Ms. Kalpana Kumari, All India Institute of Medical Sciences, Delhi, India for actively engaged in day-to-day patient management including therapeutic intervention and guidance to patients and their family members. A special mention for Prof. Samir K. Brahmachari, Dr. Balram Ghosh, Dr. Mitali Mukherjee, Dr. Abhay Sharma, Dr. Malabika Datta for their suggestions and access to the laboratory facilities. I extend my sincere thanks to Dr. M. Karthikeyan, Alagappa University, for providing resource and facilities for completion of molecular dynamics simulation work. I thank Purchase Section, NFBGR, and PME Division for efficiently helping me in procuring reagents and taking care of administrative requirements respectively.
I convey special acknowledgement to Dr. Pankaj Jha, Dr. Rubina Tabussum, Dr. Ganesh Chauhan, Dr. Shilpi Aggarwal, Dr. Amit Yadav, Dr. Tavpritesh Singh and Sourav Ghosh contributed to the statistical analysis and the programming support for the work. Their clarity of scientific concepts and the immense knowledge that they had further smoothen my research. Special thanks to my special buddies Saurabh Vig, Anshika Singhal for helping me in functional validation work presented here and Kh. Dhanachandra Singh, for his support in molecular dynamics simulation. I also thank Anshika and Paranjoy Saharia, for their timely and insightful commentary and editing on all the manuscripts. I am grateful to my PhD batch mates who were always part of scientific and recreational works. This work was supported in part by grants from Council of Scientific and Industrial Research and Department of Biotechnology.

Sincere thank is due to all the unnamed study participants from the NIMHANS, Bengaluru, and AIIMS, Delhi, India for their contribution and willingness to participate in research.

I would like to thank teachers from BHU, Jaiswal Sir, S. N. Tripathi, and especially 'Master Ji' and 'Chacha ji', Ajay Kumar for guiding and mentoring me. I owe to be part of such as organization. I am fortunate enough to have lovely friend- Sandeep, Amit, Paranjoy, Kamna, Nidhi, Anshul. I am thankful to Lalit, Shuvadeep, and Vinay for guiding and troubleshooting. I love to trek Himalayas and raft Ganges with Arpit, Santosh great mind in jolly mood. I appreciate Kiran and Saurabh for sharing happiness, worries, jokes (sometimes they may fall under PJ's) and many aspects of lives.

Finally, A very special thanks to my fiancée, Anshika. I am lucky enough to have my best friend as my partner in journey of life. She constantly supported me throughout the tenure, from coursework to till completing the thesis. I always cherish moments we live together, taking walk through streets, experiencing life, friendship, and chatting about 'The Life' with a cup of tea in hand and smile on face.

Love to my sweet family for their blessing, prayers and constant support. Love to Bhaiya, Bhabhi and lovely 'Jerry'. A special love my sweet little sister, Shweta. Dear we laugh, we fight, and we cry and love together, so many little moments to treasure my life. Love and admiration to my beloved father for teaching me values of life, you have been a perfect role model. I would love to be one like you. I love you 'Maa', this is for you!!
